

The Award Winning . . . Jackson's Steakhouse

Jackson's Steakhouse, one of Northwest Florida's local premier restaurants, has once again been recognized by Florida Trend magazine-with the prestigious Golden Spoon Hall of Fame Award.

The Golden Spoon Hall of Fame Award is the highest honor Florida Trend can bestow on a Florida restaurant. These awards are coveted by the state's best chefs and foodie favorites. Restaurants that have won Golden Spoon Awards year after year are considered unbeatable and put into the Hall of Fame. Jackson's Steakhouse, led by Chef Irv Miller, has earned nine Golden Spoon awards over the years. This year, Florida Trend picked Jackson's Steakhouse as the only new restaurant, from Pensacola to Jacksonville, to make it into the honored Hall of Fame.

Collier Merrill, president of the Great Southern Restaurant Group, of which Jackson's is a part, states, "We continually strive to provide our guests with the same things we all look for in a dining experience; quality food and stellar service. It is our goal to make this happen each and every time a guests comes to dine. We are truly honored to be presented with such an award."

It is a true testament for recognizing that we have remained focused on our restaurant concept, high food standards, and service goals." The awards are based on food, presentation, service, atmosphere, price and total dining experience. In
